YEAR OF TRANSITION

1962—YEAR

From its vantage point on the Administration Building, this tower has watched the evolution of a school.

IN 1873 a Blackhawk County farmer, Senator Edward G. Miller, began the lengthy process in the Legislature to establish a normal school at Cedar Falls in a state-owned building. Not until March 17, 1876, was the bill approved. In June James C. Gilchrist, Superintendent of Mason City schools, was elected Principal of the new institution.

On Wednesday, September 6, 1876, twenty-seven students and five faculty members met for recitation in North Hall, known today as Central. This was the beginning of Iowa State Normal School.

The first building on the campus as it appeared in 1873. Central, used by the music majors until they moved to their new quarters, will probably be razed.

Transition

Campus expansion puts giants like these to work.

College still amounts to one long line taking one long walk.

One aspect of college life not affected by transition.

ENROLLMENT increased, faculty members were added, and the need for additional equipment and space was apparent at the beginning of the second year of instruction. Legislative appropriations were granted and in 1882 South Hall, now Gilchrist, was built. This new building contained women's housing, recitation rooms, a chapel and a Model School.

Beacon, Beacon, burning bright
Keeping vigil through the night.

Dates aren't important —
just remember when it happened.

By 1909, sufficient revisions had been made in the curriculum to warrant legislative approval of the change in name to Iowa State Teachers College. Its concern for improvements in teaching methods earned national recognition for the institution. In 1961 the State College of Iowa was established with power to grant the B. A. degree in Liberal Arts.

This doesn't apply to maintenance trucks.

What do you mean, freshmen can't take courses numbered 200g?

Faculty-student conferences.

THROUGH seemingly endless faculty meetings, administrative meetings, student meetings and combinations of these, curriculum is revised, activities organized, laws are made and enforced. Only through such cooperation can an institution operate smoothly and according to plan.

Some are oblivious to campus politics.

Student conferences.

Look both ways and proceed with caution.

The lab school remains an integral part of our training.

WE have entered a new era, a time when one small spark in international affairs could ignite conditions from which the world could never recover. It is our responsibility to future generations to present them with a normal life in a peaceful world. We should be especially careful in our own educational preparation, so that we can participate actively and intelligently in meeting this obligation.

A & M or liberal arts?

Knowledge is a combination of many different ideas.

Here is where we realize what the methods courses were really about.

s teachers we must remember not to squelch thought, but to encourage it. We must be ready to advise, to guide and especially to listen, for in this we will learn of the need for our own improvement. Learning may take place in a nursery, a classroom, a laboratory, in industry or in informal talk. The location is not as important as the fact that someone has experienced something new and profited by it.

Education is something deeper than mere reflected portions of knowledge.

In some seasons the weather is too nice for people to spend all of their time studying.

Church night introduces new students to their respective religious organizations.

When I grow up, I'd like to wear a big hat like that and lead a band in a parade.

Sometimes even coffee doesn't help.

THE YEAR

Here is where the new student first feels he has begun to lose his individuality.

Fall Orientation

Beethoven's tenth, maybe?

Fall orientation—the annual inundation of new students, parents, counselors and frustrated dormitory directors. This year's students were different from other year's—they were members of SCI's first class, but they faced the age-old freshman problems. After the first few hectic days of form-filling, testing, campus touring, and adjusting to dormitory rooms, roommates, and near-capacity housing, the freshmen settled down to the serious task of getting acquainted. Their job was eased by the Chuck-Wagon dinner and the all-college mixer, moved indoors by the weather. By the time classes started all began to feel nearly at home.

We know all this—where's Playboy?

Dr. Norman Graebner, Chairman of the History Department at the University of Illinois was the keynote speaker of the conference.

Many students became acquainted with ACCIA representatives over Commons lunch.

Men students air their opinions at dormitory buzz sessions during ACCIA week.

ACCIA

"Neutralism, a Positive or Negative Force for World Peace" was the theme of the 4th annual All-College Conference on International Affairs. Representatives from Russia, Nigeria, Tunisia, Jordan and the United States visited the campus to present a stimulating series of lectures on this vital question in present world affairs. Students participating in the conference not only heard the various addresses, but were free to question the speakers and talk with them at the many discussion groups following the sessions. "To the average African, independence means freedom to do business with both sides," was one comment of Dr. David Dankaro, Nigeria's representative, while Vladimir Petrovsky, the Russian delegate, emphasized the need for peaceful co-existence. Many of the delegates were guests in the homes of Cedar Falls families during their visit.

The conference over, Dr. Poage hurries the last of the ACCIA delegates to the waiting plane.

Greek Week

When was the last time anyone checked the fuel?

Greeks on campus rollicked through a lively week as they held their "Hellenic Holidays" during last spring's Greek Week. Carol Lester, Delta Delta Phi, and Don Murphy, Alpha Chi Epsilon, reigned as queen and king of the week while Kay Kaiser and Gil Huseman, pledges of Delta Delta Phi and Alpha Chi Epsilon respectively, were crowned princess and prince. Joe Will, alias "the Laughing Idiot," of Alpha Chi Epsilon, received the title of Ugliest Man on Campus and the proceeds from this event were donated to the Cedar Valley Service Center. Despite the rain, fraternities and sororities labored at the Cedar Falls Lutheran Home on their service project. They displayed their talents in the fun-filled variety show which featured Dave Cox and Ann Hawn as master and mistress of ceremonies and exhibited their athletic prowess at the often hilarious, ever-popular Olympics. The all-Greek chorus was a bright spot in the week. Many dinners and a dance at the Waterloo Elks Club brought the active week to a close.

Forerunner of the Twist?

Comedienne Sandy Phillips gyrates through another of her pantomimes.

Campus Life

Pledges turn up in the oddest "predicaments!"

Queen Jan Magel smiles at the camera from her convertible perch.

What goes up must come down.

TC Relays

Two thousand fans watched as six records were set and another tied in the 38th running of the TC relays. To the already "beautiful day for the races" was added the beauty of bright-eyed Jan Magel, crowned queen of the event. Teachers' 440-yard relay team tied the record in that event with a time of :43.1. The freshmen set a record time of 1:31.0 in the 880-yard relay.

See, I told you that was Number 43.

How'm I doin', Coach?

Look, Ma, grace.

Mother's Day

And then it was performance night and suddenly the long practice sessions which had meant almost constantly damp hair for weeks beforehand seemed well worth all the work they had taken. The Marlins' presentation of their precision-swimming show "Postmarked Paree" was excellent entertainment for the visiting mothers and their families during the 1961 Mother's Day weekend. Because of her daughter, Joy's outstanding accomplishments and contributions to campus life, Mrs. Russell Tubaugh, Belle Plain, was chosen to reign as Mother of the Day for 1961. She and the other mothers were royally entertained by a round of teas, luncheons and the annual style show.

Spring Activities

At last, winter gave way to spring and then summer. It felt like summer, at least, but there were still the demands of courses to be met, finals to be studied for and term papers to be written. There were those, however, who could find spare hours for the sunbathing courts and others who preferred the exercise of the tennis courts. The temperate weather stirred the Hawaiian Club to plan a Luau, which meant an evening of food, dancing and ukelele music for their group. The rest of us looked hopefully forward to summer.

But Mommy, I can't wait!

This position forces observers to watch the hands.

Was that a tennis ball or a low flying pigeon?

Summer school has its advantages.

Summer Activities

Too much sun and not enough suntan lotion. . . .

Fireworks doubled the meaning of the 4th of July in 1961 as the name change of Iowa State Teachers College became effective. Students, interested people and the Cedar Falls Chamber of Commerce helped put up new signs displaying the name State College of Iowa. This highlight of summer activities was only part of the excitement of summer. On campus the students enjoyed the informal atmosphere that comes with summer school. Art classes moved outside and classroom wear became casual. Movies, art exhibits, picnics, tennis, studying on the lawn: all this was summer atmosphere at SCI.

A study in modern art.

Quick-change artists pull a fast job.

Summer Activities

Ah, to be young and in Venice!

A six-day trans-Atlantic cruise, a two-week study session at Oxford, travel through Holland, Germany and Austria, with a study period at Vienna, seven days behind the Iron Curtain, tours of Moscow, Italy, Switzerland and France: what a wonderful way to spend the summer and yet earn college credit. The fifty-two members of the ISTC Social Science Seminar in Europe found that they had much to learn about our neighbors in Western Europe and so took full advantage of the many lectures, tours and sight-seeing opportunities that their trip afforded them. The group, headed by Dr. and Mrs. Louis Bultena and Dr. and Mrs. Howard Jones, on the study tour planned by the Social Science Department, spent ten new-experience-filled weeks in Western Europe. Back in Cedar Falls, Iowa, summer session at ISTC-SCI went on as usual in the warm summer months and there was much to be learned here, too.

Does anybody know what time it is?

Fall Activities

I've been here a week—I wanna go home!

Watch it fellas! You're stretching my necktie.

You don't suppose he forgot us again?

Fall Activities

The re-orientation to campus life was over—the long, lazy days of summer forgotten in the whirl of fall activities on campus. The freshman soon came to feel a part of it all and week-end trips home slowly dwindled as the fall schedule became more and more filled with Panther football games, lectures, meetings, concerts, assignments, coke dates and long walks or bicycle rides on streets lined with brilliant autumn color.

AWS-MU Style Show

Several possibilities for answers to the often perplexing problem of what to wear where were offered to the student body at the fall AWS-MU Style Show held in the Auditorium. Student models showed the latest in appropriate campus wear for dress, sport, and classroom. Men's suits tended toward simple lines, natural shoulders and rich, warm shades of brown and green, while matching skirts and sweaters and basic slim-lined sheaths remain popular for women. Coleen Shea and Tom Johnson acted as style commentators for the show.

Dad's Day

Dads were guests of the campus for the thirty-first annual Dad's Day and were honored by coffee hours given by residence halls and social groups, special dinners, and an evening football game. Mr. Bruce Farley of Clinton, Iowa, was selected by the Dad's Day Committee to be Dad of the Day on the basis of the achievements of his son, Erik, a senior social science major.

Homecoming

Clear blue skies and vibrant autumn colors formed the backdrop for the staging of the first SCI Homecoming. "The SCI's the Limit" was the theme and enthusiasm showed strong from the flaming SCI pep rally to the "SCI-Rocketing" dance. Over 6,500 fans, including Governor Norman Erbe, cheered the team to victory over Augustana and applauded the half-time show in honor of previous ISTC graduates. The Gamma Delta float, "Soaring Spirit of SCI," won first place in the colorful parade. Seated on the throne of the queen's float was the reigning queen Bonnie Van Zandt, a sophomore from Muscatine, who was selected by the student body. Attending the queen were Dee Azeltine, Rowan; Gerri Fox, Waterloo; Kay Kaiser, Dubuque, and Barb Schmicher, Cedar Falls.

Gently swaying Spanish moss and graceful white columns furnished a romantic setting for the fourth annual AMRH Beauty Pageant and Talent Show. The sixteen lovely contestants representing each of the houses in the men's residence halls and varied talent entries afforded the audience an entertaining evening. Mary Sue Edgerton of Rockwell City was selected by the panel of judges and crowned by last year's Miss AMRH, Georgia Wiedemeyer Waller.

According to the boys from Carpenter House, "There's Nothing Like a Dame."

Winter Activities

No sooner does the last golden leaf fall from the last golden tree than the first hesitant snow flake of the year appears on the scene. From then on until some time too much later toward spring, SCI undergoes a period called Winter. This year Winter was made memorable by the Big Snow of February and spiced by occasional snow-balling melees, stalled or buried cars and those invigorating walks up the diagonal walk toward Campbell. Knee-deep in snow surging across campus we tried hard to believe that there is no California.

"We're comin', we're comin', our brave little band . . ."

Help!

Because the evergreen trees sheltered the little bird, Jack Frost let them keep their leaves.

This body of individuals performed as one, a part of the SCI tradition.

Messiah

Dr. Myron Russell conducts orchestra and chorus in Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" which was presented with the "Messiah."

There's nothing like an old fashioned Christmas... there's nothing like an Old-Fashioned!

As usual, some people digressed.

Christmas

Christmas came suddenly to the campus this year, almost with the first real snow, and just as suddenly everyone found himself engaged in the gay round of pre-Christmas activities on campus. George F. Handel's inspiring "Messiah," the traditional tree lighting ceremony with carillon concert and hot chocolate and caroling in the Commons officially opened the season.

Santa?

Change that request to a pair of stilts.

Lawther had its Christmas in the Commons one night after the boys had been shooed home.

Caroling

Even though it's Christmas, one to a person.

"Christmas comes but twice a year, once at home and once up here" read the sign on the door and all through that and other residence halls was the gay bustle of decorating, package wrapping, impromptu parties and sometimes maybe even studying, if it was remembered that finals come shortly after Christmas. There were so many things to do — go with that group of children to the Children's Theater, carol for various community members, decorate the Commons and the lounges and find time to spend sitting in front of a crackling fire chatting with friends and drinking Christmas wassail.

If you concentrate very hard on the mistletoe, perhaps a fair prince will appear beneath it.

SCI's version of Lawrence Welk's ballroom.

Dance

With a fresh sparkling snowfall and the pungent fragrance of wood smoke in the air, couples headed for the Commons ballroom for the annual Christmas Formal whose theme this year was "Roses in the Snow." Mistletoe, roses and pine boughs provided the setting for Preston Love's orchestra, and this year the Twist managed to find its place among the traditional dances.

M-m-m-m

Wake me up when it's time to go home.

Dr. Verlin Lee, Emcee, presented Bunny with the queen's bouquet.

Old Gold Week

The application of liquid cement holds the coif securely.

The drive was on. OLD GOLD salesmen showed up in the most unlikely places; posters sprouted out of all bulletin boards. Both spoke a similar message—Buy your OLD GOLD this week—or else! And we scraped together enough of last month's allowance and bought. Super-saleswoman, Alice Kuntz, won the sales contest during this active week filled with contests. First came the beauty pageant preliminaries which selected fifteen lovely girls to appear in the finals. And when the big night was over, Brenda Jean (Bunny) Geiger was crowned OLD GOLD Beauty queen for 1962. Her attendants were Peggy DeShon, Dianne Denk, Vicki Schultz, and Maureen Allison. The OLD GOLD Popularity favorites were Sandy Phillips, Myrna Spurling, Carroll Englehardt and Barry Geise.

Perhaps only one girl knows how this got here and how it disappeared after her stage presentation.

This is for the benefit of any nearsighted people who left their opera glasses at home that night.

Dr. Lee, Emcee of the final pageant, seems to have enjoyed the program.

Foreign Students

Adjustment for the college student is a problem that is overcome without too many battle scars. But for the foreign student it is an even greater problem as our society is completely unfamiliar to him. Here at SCI, foreign students encounter this problem. To help them, a group has been formed called Foreign Students. This informal group meets over cokes and coffee to discuss their college life. They are interested primarily in their education at this school and by meeting together they have the opportunity to discuss American education. They are representatives of the International Education movement which brings thousands of foreign students to the United States for higher education. They are sponsored by Dr. Alden Hanson.

Commencement

Approximately 400 ISTC students were awarded their bachelor of arts in education degrees at commencement exercises in June. These were the last of the graduates from ISTC. After receiving their degrees from President Maucker, they went out to teach and continue their learning. The Varsity Men's Glee Club and Philip Hahn provided music for the occasion.

At summer commencement in August 200 students graduated. The first graduates of the new era received diplomas bearing the name of State College of Iowa. All left with mixed emotions: sadness because of the life they must leave behind and anticipations for the one they face.

President's Message

To SCI Students:

Our first year as the State College of Iowa is well under way as I greet you through the Old Gold. What can we say of it?

Three comments seem pertinent:

1. Students whipped up a good deal of general enthusiasm in the fall with practically every event being a "first" (first time as SCI). The weather man and Stan Sheriff and Company helped make Homecoming a near perfect celebration.
2. Crowding was more evident — in large classes, residence halls, and the Commons — as we opened the year with an enrollment in excess of 4,000 for the first time. We all felt the pressure to push for additional facilities.
3. The underlying drive for higher quality of academic performance made itself felt as our general education program, new Honors sections and theme groups, TV instruction, and the proposed honor system of examinations came under scrutiny by staff and students.

Best wishes to you all.

Sincerely yours,
J. W. MAUCKER,
President

Business Office and Physical Plant

The office familiar to students gainfully employed on campus as the place to which they flock the first of each month for monetary inspiration is the Business Office. Under the management of Mr. Philip Jennings, this office performs duties of accounting, auditing, reporting, and budgetary control and purchasing for the entire college, including residence halls, food service, laundry, mimeograph and the Physical Plant. Mr. Eldon Cole as Director of the Physical Plant is responsible for much more than cutting the grass, raking the leaves and trimming the shrubs! Areas administered and supervised by the Physical Plant are heating and power plant; various shops; janitorial service; transportation service; campus gardens and grounds; campus policing; building maintenance, repair and remodeling; supervision of new construction. New construction of building and parking lots have expanded the responsibility of this department, now the largest system of full-time employment on campus.

Among Dr. Schlicher's extension service duties are administration of the car fleet, consultant service, state-wide college extension classes, non-credit local community classes, speaker's bureau, correspondence study and aid to schools with problems. Ernest Fossum is Assistant Director of Placement. As Public School Relations Counselor, Jack Wielenga visited prospective SCI students at high schools on Prospective Teachers Days. Herbert Hake, Director of Radio and Television, produced radio and television programs in public schools of Iowa and closed circuit television college courses. Milo Lawton, as Director of Alumni Affairs, maintained contact with alumni and administrated the loan fund and scholarships.

Instruction and Research

DR. MARSHALL R. BEARD
Registrar

Dean Lang, as supervisor of the Division of Instruction and Research, has several assistants who work in specific areas of responsibility. The Assistants to the Dean of Instruction are primarily responsible for the development of the curriculum, graduate programs, and the summer session. The Coordinator of Research also serves as an assistant to the Dean. He encourages institutional, faculty and graduate student research. The primary concerns of the Office of the Registrar are the admission, retention and graduation of students. It keeps complete records of student progress, approves advance standing of transfer students, issues transcripts and recommendations, plans class scheduling and handles registration procedures. The Bureau of Research, headed by the Director of Research, is responsible for all group testing programs, such as placement, sophomore and graduate examinations. It also serves instructors in evaluating individual testing. This office conducts research and experimental projects in institutional and administrative problems and directs co-operative research projects with other similar Midwest institutions.

College Relations

MR. GEORGE HOLMES
Director of College Relations

Assistance and consultation for other college offices in problems of public relations and the interpretation of the college to its various publics is the main function of the College Relations Office. As part of this work the office prepares news releases, brochures and photographs for newspapers and radio and TV stations as well as booklets and bulletins addressed to prospective students, public school personnel and alumni. All official college publications are processed under the direction of Mr. Jack Hols, Publications Assistant. These include such publications as the Alumnus magazine, college catalog, summer bulletin, general information bulletin, departmental leaflets, folders and programs. Mr. Hols also serves as advisor of the OLD GOLD. Mr. George Wine, Sports Information Assistant, and Mrs. Loree Wilson, General News Assistant, report daily news releases to newspapers, radio and TV.

Student Personnel

Dr. Paul Kelso, Coordinator of Student Counseling, offers vocational counseling. Through such methods as interest tests, he aids students in re-evaluating their programs. He officially serves as director of the college counseling program, supervisor of the faculty-advisor program for new students, and chairman of orientation activities.

Four major areas involve Mr. Jensen, Assistant to the Dean of Students: student government, guidance and counseling, housing and federal loans. Responsibilities connected with married student housing, off-campus men, Men's Union and organizations committees, orientation, and revision of the Guidebook accompany his position.

Dr. Harold E. Bernhard, Director of Religious Activities and Professor of Religious Literature, seeks to develop the religious life of the student. He is advisor of the Student Council of Religious Activities; director of conferences and lectures; co-ordinator of student religious centers; and professor in the Department of Languages, Speech, and Literature, teaching courses in religion.

Health Center

This year the new Student Health Center provided improved services with its laboratory, X-ray room, emergency room, and sixteen-bed hospital.

Dr. S. C. Henn, Medical Director, and Miss Maude Haines, supervisor, headed the staff.

Curriculum Laboratory

Rather than being a "Tom Thumb" library, the Curriculum Laboratory is a workshop for both students and in-service teachers. The Audio-Visual Center is a branch of this office.

Art Department

Jack Clayter creates an "original."

To expose students to original contemporary works of art and artists is the obligation felt by the Art Department. Films and film strips in classes, exhibitions by students and agencies, special speakers, and television programs are efforts made toward this goal. This year the college's permanent collection of paintings was displayed in the Commons. It is a departmental policy to hire instructors who, besides being vitally concerned with teaching, are creatively active in their subject area. These teacher-producers, in displaying their works competitively, are recognized prominently and have designed building decorations on campus and in surrounding cities. In conjunction with the change to State College of Iowa, the number of new students and the graduate program have both expanded. Also, a course in Oriental art was added in the spring. The department sponsors Art Club and Kappa Pi, an honorary art fraternity.

Industrial Arts Department

The Industrial Arts Department has as its main goal education through practical experiences with tools, processes, and materials which are related to production in modern industry. In carrying out this objective, the Industrial Arts Department together with the Industrial Arts Club and the Majors' Wives Club has enjoyed one of its most successful years. Highlighting this year's program of activities was the winter Industrial Arts Conference which was held January 19-20. The guest speaker was Dr. Raymond H. Larson of the St. Cloud State College, St. Cloud, Minnesota. The conference was followed by a week of student exhibits during which time the public had the opportunity of seeing displays in metal work, electrical work, radio construction and architectural drawing. Two new additions to the Industrial Arts Building this year were the drafting room and the expansion of the metal shop.

Business Department

The addition of four specialization courses which provided for a non-teaching degree was the main point of interest in the business program this year. Now, for the first time, the department offered such courses as general business, accounting, marketing and secretarial training to those students who do not wish to become business instructors. Students planning to major in business education had the opportunity to take an office education course. The State College of Iowa is one of the few schools in the nation to offer such a course. The Department of Business Education, under the supervision of Dr. Lloyd Douglas, sponsored the Pi Omega Pi and the Future Business Leaders of America.

Home Economics Department

The Home Economics Department provides education concerning the well-being of individuals and families and the values significant in home life. This spring the department, under the supervision of Miss Margaret Sjolander, sponsored a High School Day. Many junior and senior high school students came to the campus to see the home economics exhibit and tour the department. Theta Theta Epsilon and the Ellen Richards Club are sponsored by the department.

Education and Psychology Department

This year the Department of Education and Psychology completed several of the research and experimental projects which it had instituted in the past few years. Dr. Nellie Hampton finished her three-year study of the rapid learner. The revised junior high curriculum plan was put into use for the first time this year. In addition to these accomplishments, Dr. A. E. Brown successfully completed his research project on the history of the department. The Education Department was host to the fall Elementary Education Conference and to the Elementary Leaders Conference held in the spring. During the past two summers the U. S. Office of Education sponsored a guidance institute under the direction of Dr. Calvin Daane. The General Psychology Laboratory was new to the department this year. Kappa Delta Pi, Kappa Pi Beta Alpha, Beta Alpha Epsilon, Student Iowa State Education Association, and Elementa Ki were sponsored by the department.

Teaching Department

Now that State College of Iowa carries a liberal arts curriculum, the Teaching Department will no longer be meeting all the students before graduation. This department provides student teaching for undergraduates. Opportunities to student teach are open at Fort Dodge, Mason City, Waterloo, Newton, Lab School and the Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School at Vinton. Other duties of the department are to provide education for some six hundred pupils from nursery through twelfth grade, individual and group observation, participation in experiences prior to student teaching, experimentation with new methods and materials, and to furnish personnel for extension work throughout the state. Our school lab tries to keep in the forefront of educational progress so that we can show in practice any forward-looking and sound theories in education. For instance, an extensive program in foreign languages in the elementary grades is being carried on, starting with the third grade.

Music Department

The long-awaited occupation of the newly-constructed one million dollar music building south of the Men's Gym became a reality this spring. Dr. William Latham composed the work for the dedication and Dr. James Hearst of the English Department wrote the words. The department moved in at the beginning of the second semester. Productions this year included "The Messiah," Bach's "Christmas Oratorio," and two operas, "The Telephone" and "The Medium." The department sponsored Marching Band, Orchestra, Concert Band, instrumental ensembles, College Chorus, Varsity Men's Glee Club and a Cappella choir. Also, Sigma Alpha Iota Fraternity for women, Phi Mu Alpha Fraternity for men, and Music Educators National Conference, a professional organization, are sponsored by this department.

Languages, Speech and Literature Department

Dr. H. W. Reninger, head of the department, has been teaching American literature in India during the year. In his absence, Dr. John Cowley has assumed his responsibilities. Growth of interest in foreign languages continued in the Department of Languages, Speech and Literature this year with the addition of a new French instructor, Mr. Chabert. Four English instructors, Mr. Joseph Bohme, Mr. John Golubowich, Mr. Vernon Harmelink, Mr. Ira Johnson and one speech instructor, Mr. Robert Wesley, joined the department staff. An experiment with the teaching of composition to large groups by means of television and specially trained student assistants has been undertaken this year under the direction of Mr. Ross Jewell. The department continued to sponsor the College Players, Speech Activities Club, English Club and Sigma Alpha Eta, speech correction club.

Educational Clinic

Laying a foundation for future learning.

One of the remaining teacher training facilities on our campus is the Educational Clinic. It is a training clinic as opposed to a service clinic through which children having problems receive corrective instruction. Advantages of remedial reading as a lab course, clinical experience in diagnosing and prescribing specialized education for the retarded or gifted child, and student guidance are available to the prospective teacher. Individual testing to college students is also offered.

DR. H. C. TRIMBLE, Department Head

Mathematics Department

By the 1962-63 college year, all general mathematics students will be using a new textbook revised by Drs. Trimble, Hamilton and Silvey. With this book students will learn what has been determined about how others learn math. An additional instructor, Dr. Karl Wehner, joined the staff. Dr. G. Gibb conducted a research on the use of special teachers of science and math in fifth and sixth grade. Dr. Hamilton also kept studies of student comprehension and morale in larger and smaller size classes. In general he found little difference in the amount of learning. Instructors of large television classes provided help sessions for individual work. Several national journals edited by members of the math department included the Arithmetic Teacher, The Pentagon, and School Science and Mathematics. The Math Club, which is the oldest departmental club on campus, and Kappa Mu Epsilon, honorary fraternity, are sponsored by this department.

Science Department

And for those interested, there will be a full moon tonight.

This year the Science Department had a noticeable increase in enrollees of the junior and senior classes. Physical chemistry was added to the curriculum with the change from Iowa State Teachers College to State College of Iowa. The fourth Academic Year Institute for high school teachers of math and science was held. It was sponsored by the National Science Foundation. The Annual Northeast Iowa Science Fair was held in April. Last summer, the department, together with the State Conservation Department, co-sponsored the Iowa Teachers' Conservation Camp. Several television and radio programs were produced, including Dr. Verlin Lee's "Let's Explore Science" over WOI-TV, the weekly "Science Forum," and Dr. Abbot's "Everyday Science." Beta Beta Beta, honorary biology fraternity, and Lambda Delta Lambda, honorary physical science fraternity, are sponsored by the department.

Library Science Department

Unknown to many students, the term "library" refers not to just one department, but to two very distinct departments—the library itself and the Department of Library Science, located in the library. The division between the two terms was made eight years ago, and classes are now held in the library. The Library Science Department has many hopes for the near future. Among these are a graduate program and a new library building which is to be completed in the fall of 1962. According to Dr.

Rod, Head Librarian, plans for the new million and a half dollar building have taken up most efforts of the committee, consisting of both faculty and students. This building has the best new plans possible and will be in the heart of the campus in an area bounded by Wright Hall and the Women's Gym. Ground for the new library was broken in the spring. The Library Science Department sponsors Alpha Beta Alpha which is a national undergraduate fraternity for library science majors.

Social Science Department

Due to the addition of a liberal arts program, the Social Science Department now offers three non-teaching majors: one in the broad area of social science, one in geography, and one in history. The department hopes to soon develop a sixth-year program. The department believes that the study of the social sciences—man, his environment, and his society—makes one a better citizen and a richer individual. The department also deals with problems presented by the natural and physical sciences and teaches the student to solve, or at least to live with, such problems. It sponsors an honor society, Phi Gamma Mu, joins with other college departments in bringing to the campus the All-College Conference on International Affairs, supports the International Relations Club and provides study tours in this hemisphere and on the European continent.

In this course you will learn to draw the world in triangles.

Are you sure that's the way it's spelled?

DR. JAMES WITHAM, Department Head

Men's Physical Education Department

In their program the Men's Physical Education Department stresses the importance of physical fitness in everyday life. The Physical Education program consisted not only of training Physical Education instructors and coaches but also of arranging activities for all men students, including a program for the handicapped, the intramural program, and the athletic program. Historically, the sports previously offered were fundamental sports such as football, basketball, baseball and track. Now, the emphasis is upon a broader field of recreation activity useful to the individual throughout his life. The major and minor in this field presents the whys, hows and the whats of physical education. In the future, the department hopes to have a graduate program. In addition to the varsity teams, the "I" Club comes under the direction of this department.

Many students do not realize the interesting historical background concerning the Women's Physical Education Building. It was built in 1903 and contained the first swimming pool west of the Mississippi River. The first gym classes were held in the basement of the Administration Building and were taught by an instructor of English and physics. Both men's and women's classes were held in the same building until 1928. For the added convenience of our students, the locker rooms and shower facilities were completely remodeled this summer. The purpose of the Women's Physical Education Department is threefold: preparing Physical Education majors, preparing elementary teachers for physical education activities, and meeting the four semester activity requirement for all girls. The department sponsors Physical Education Club, Marlins, Orchesis, and the Women's Recreational Association.

Purple Key

Twenty-eight members of the graduating class of 1962 earned the honor of Purple Key Recognition. These people have been outstanding in scholarship, leadership and extra-curricular activities during their years at SCI. To be eligible for the highest award an SCI student can receive, it is necessary to have a cumulative grade-point of no less than 2.6. The Student League Board established the fraternity in 1952. # PRODUCTIONS

The "Pirates of Penzance" . . . a delightful, zany production!

With a massive guitar and the varied richness of her voice, Odetta captivates.

Jerome Hines . . . "leading basso of the Metropolitan Opera Company" gives a magnificent performance.

Lecture Concert Series

Cosmopolitan New York is far distant, but SCI does bring culture to this area of landlocked Iowa through the scintillating Lecture-Concert Series. Dr. Howard Jones, chairman of the Lecture Concert Committee, is at least the fourth person to inherit the directorship of this some twenty-year-old SCI fine arts promotion. Working with Dr. Jones in the selection of entertainment are Mr. Stanley Wood and four students appointed to the Student League Board. Out of a budget of $16,000, four to five brilliant selections are offered in a season. In the past, each attraction had a one-night stand. Due to the auditorium's small seating capacity and to the greater number of culture mongers, the committee set a precedent this year by extending each performance to two evenings. Because of this addition, Dr. Jones is confident that next year's sale of season tickets will reach a pleasurable high and all SCI culture patrons will be easily accommodated and placated.

Plays

Don't worry dear, the John Birch society will never succeed.

Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Candida," came to life amidst an authentically created Victorian parlor scene. The eternal triangle comprised of the Rev. Morrell, his wife, Candida, and her young poet admirer is finally resolved when Candida declares that "She will love the man who needs her most—her husband."

"From a hundred visions I make one" . . . Stephen Benet's words describe the Pulitzer Prize winning lyric production of his epic poem, "John Brown's Body." A panorama of the Civil War, Harper's Ferry to General Lee's surrender, the scenes are of the great and the common people caught in this struggle—all touched somehow, somewhere by this great war.

Between Two Thieves . . . an unusual combination of intellect and emotion.

With an air of startling truth, the play re-examines the trial of Jesus by present-day court.

An excellent production of Menotti's strangely beautiful and chilling opera.

Opera and Childrens Theater

The seance that backfired was the startling, suspenseful topic of "The Medium," a short opera presented in "An Evening with Menotti." In a lighter vein, "The Telephone" portrayed the trials of a young man unable to make a proposal of marriage because of the telephone's constant interruption.

The annual Children's Theater production was "The Princess and the Swineherd." The adult members of the audience became children again as they enjoyed the story through the eyes of the children around them.

Two neurotic clients are waiting for their interviews with 'The Medium.'

"The traditional Children's Theatre is the gift of SCL students to the children in the Cedar Falls area," said Stanley Wood.

Gee, he makes me feel funny!

The children rapturously watched the good Prince Dominic, who scorned artificiality, pose as a lowly swineherd in order to teach his bride-to-be the necessity of humility.

Dimensions In Jazz

Buddy De Franco tickles the licorice stick.

You and I are losing ourselves in darkness. The darkness vibrates under the hypnotizing swish of brushes across taut skins; this is the pulse. A throaty wail of an alto sax breathes life into the air, heavy with the staleness of a jammed audience.

It's spontaneous, restless, wistful, poignant, rhythmic, brassy, racy blues, a little bitter around the edges, maybe. You can play it hot, lukewarm, or cool . . . and it's called JAZZ.

SCI's got JAZZ . . . the 13th annual Phi Mu Alpha JAZZ Concert—re-established this fact on November 20th and 21st. SCI's JAZZ-MANIA began in 1950 and this yearly fling has been covered in Down Beat, Cosmopolitan, Mademoiselle, and Playboy. This year Buddy De Franco, "top world JAZZ clarinetist," filled the bill in the roles of a carelessly casual MC and as a dizzy fingered, brilliant guest soloist. Most of this year's numbers were either arranged or composed by SCI graduates or students.

"SCI's got jazz . . ."

Blow, Man, Blow!

Tiny Nancy Hammond, a former SCI student who is now professional, was a featured soloist. A nice relaxer came from Rod Mitchell, an SCI footballer who also sings professionally. A sophisticated, close-harmony vocal quintet gave the dash of spice.

SCI's got JAZZ and it's not difficult to understand why. JAZZ reflects us . . . the massiveness, chaos, conflict, frantic pace and fragmentary nature of our lives. A Jazzman squeezes loneliness out of a horn and that loneliness is often an echo of ourselves.

Hey wait a minute, my drumstick's caught.

DIJ in perspective.

If they'd let us use nails in the first place we wouldn't have to rehang these things.

Commons

The social, recreational and cultural center of SCI is the Commons, which houses the dining rooms, the ballroom, several lounges and the fountain room. The remodeled mezzanine and additional hours for the fountain room have given the local proprietors a run for the student's shekels.

Activities sponsored by the Commons Program Committee throughout the year included formal and informal dances, movies, All-College Forums, art exhibits and concert previews. There has been a gradual change in the Commons' program during the last few years from the idea that the Commons is to provide only fun to the idea that it is to be used for intellectual enjoyment. This is shown in its innovations, among which is the new "Book of the Year" program.

Miriam Makeba appeared on the first Commons Concert of the season.

The oldest but liveliest dormitory on campus is Bartlett Hall for freshman women. These proselyte women's activities included feverish ping-pong tournaments, dances with various houses in the men's dormitories and gala pajama parties. One off-beat party was the "D-letter Party" in which the corridor with the most D-letters was host to the corridor with the fewest.

Elections were held during the winter and installations of officers took place during the latter part of January. Prior to this time, counselors acted as dorm and social regulations officers.

The enterprising dormsters also launched social service projects such as sending Christmas cards to homes for the aged and entertaining at a convalescent home.

Campbell Hall

Where Campbell Hall is . . . isn't where the boys are. Most of the young women wouldn't give up their "hall of gracious living" just to wine and dine in the Commons with the gentlemen, anyway. Each cool room harbors a telephone, spacious built-in closets and drawers. One can converse or wait in a large, serene main lounge. A charming patio also adds to the refined setting.

Comfortable TV and recreation rooms and family style dinners are features of Campbell. The women, besides being allowed personal dinner guests, often are hostesses to the faculty, foreign students and Bartlett counselors.

During the year, Campbell Hall is the scene of vivid activity, industrious racket and gaiety . . . where plans are plotted for Homecoming decorations, the Wassail, Halloween parties and exchanges with different houses in the men's dorms.

Christmas dinner at Campbell was by candlelight, or when the flame reached the decorations, torchlight.

Due to the cramped conditions in the other girls' dorms, Lawther is now a sanctuary for both sophomore and junior girls. For leisure, Lawther holds a recreation room and several lounges. The novelty of a new stereo and discs often results in the music's being "above the pitch, out of tune, and off the hinges." The social agenda this year included residence hall dinners, mixers with various men's houses, numerous coffee klatches and robe-de-chamber parties. A visit to a children's hospital was a highlighting social service project for the Lawtherites.

Baker Hall

The bombastic boys of each house of Baker Hall are governed by a head resident and a governing board. The houses are united through the AMRH senate which also sponsors an annual girly show. The men had many highlights during the year, besides the AMRH beauty and talent show. There were assorted house parties, exchanges with the women's dormitories, coffee hours and the annual Public Relations Day. A study group was organized and a new dorm library stimulated the process of raising grade points. The men in the dorm also participated in the program which included such sports as football, basketball, softball and shower-squirting.

which also doubles as a TV room. Regents boasts a handy new parking area for the expanding number of heaps, crates and limousines. Mixers, movies, and social service projects sponsored by Regents all contribute to Joe College's sagacity.

College Courts & Sunset Village

Providing homes for the harried married students and their families is Sunset Village, composed of seventy-two quonset and barrack-type domiciles and College Courts, consisting of twenty-four well-constructed cement block duplexes. The two housing units work together planning their party activities. The annual Christmas party was attended by over two hundred children whose parents live in either the Village or Courts. Other festivities were a spring dance and a picnic. Government for these married students is provided by a village council which serves as an intermediary between the college and the two housing units. One of the main activities of the council was the repair and maintenance of the playground equipment.

Student League Board is the highest student governmental body on the SCI campus. It is composed of three executive officers, the presidents of AWS, MU, and the housing units as well as five chairman of the standing committees. The meetings, which are held twice monthly, are open to any member of the student body who is interested in student government and wishes to voice his opinion. Committees are set up which look into the various problems proposed at SLB meetings and report their findings to the board. The standing committees plan such school-wide activities as Homecoming, Dad's Day, Mother's Day, movies, dances and forums. Relations between the student body and the faculty are maintained by another standing committee.

Men's Union

JOHN SHANNON, President

Men's Union was organized for the manifold purpose of enriching the lives of all the men students of SCI through the giving of assistance, information and opportunities for social pleasure.

To accomplish one aspect of this purpose, MU has sponsored a program to inform the men students of this college of their military obligations. Co-sponsoring with AWS on "Sex Education in the College" was another of the organization's activities.

Further activities of the Men's Union were a combo night and the rendition of a new and better system for students to find rides or riders. The association was able to obtain permission to have the men's gym open on Saturday mornings and to re-furnish the Off-Campus Men's Lounge.

Association of Men's Residence Halls

The Association of Men's Residence Halls is the representative body for all men living in residence halls on the SCI campus. AMRH works to provide for social as well as recreational growth of the men included in its membership. Through this group on-campus men obtain a chance to voice their opinions in the campus government.

The AMRH Senate is composed of the executive officers, the members of four standing committees and the president of each house. This year, with the addition of Regents Hall, the number of house presidents has increased from eleven to fifteen.

Every year each house chooses a girl to represent it in the AMRH Beauty Pageant. Miss AMRH is chosen for her beauty and poise by judges from Waterloo and Cedar Falls.

Associated Women Students

MARY ANN LEE, President

The purpose of Associated Women Students is to provide effective self-government for all women at SCI, to provide opportunities for social and intellectual development, and to promote unity among AWS members and within the entire college community.

The organization sponsored many activities during the year. In the Fall, AWS, with the help of the women's honoraries, held a candlelight ceremony for all freshmen and transfer girls to initiate them into AWS. They also sponsored the AWS Tea and a trip to view Mantovani in Des Moines.

AWS co-sponsored several activities with Men's Union, including the MU-AWS Style Show for freshmen students and a convocation.

During the Spring AWS held a training session for all women who served organizations of the campus as officers. They also sponsored the Women Pay All Week and Women's Day.

Off Campus Government

Students in the Cedar Falls-Waterloo area who do not live in the college dormitories are represented in student government by the organizations known as Off-Campus Women and Off-Campus Men. Through these groups an attempt is made to stimulate a greater interest among off-campus students in campus activities and to serve as a coordinating body with the on-campus students. The officers of Off-Campus Men were not able to be present when this picture was taken.

Board of Control of Student Publications

The Board of Control of Student Publications is the governing department for all student publications on the SCI campus. This controlling body selects the staff for the College Eye and OLD GOLD each year. The controlling board sees that these two student publications function adequately. Student representatives fulfill the necessity of liason between the publications staffs and board. Student members of the publications board included John Peterson, Andrea Zeck, Dick Worm and John Engel. Faculty members affiliated with the board were George Holmes, James Bailey, David Delafield and Francis Smith.

Board of Control of Student Broadcasting

The student radio station, KYTC, is governed by the Board of Control of Student Broadcasting. This controlling board makes the appointments for the executive staff of the radio station and acts as a regulator for the station in regard to funds and program selection. The controlling board also acts as a policy determiner for KYTC. Student members on the board this year were Jim Pratt, Bill Kortemeyer and Darrell Wheaton. Faculty members included Herbert Hake, James Bailey and Ray Matala. Mr. Hake is the permanent chairman of the organization. The Station Manager, Carl Jenkins, chosen by the board, also attended meetings.

Campus Radio Station

"If it's on campus, it's on KYTC!" is the motto of the student radio station, KYTC. The station carried out this slogan with a wide variety of programs by offering complete coverage of all SCI football games, both home and away, with the aid of KXEL in Waterloo. The initiation of an open air policy meant free time to publicize all coming events which various clubs, organizations, or committees may have planned for the future. Other features offered by the student radio station were top name recording artists, live, weekly jam sessions and some drama productions. An expanded staff enabled KYTC to provide more and better coverage of newsworthy campus activities. Various weekly programs included "The Speaker's Choice," a program of talks on subjects of interest; "Campus Sports"; "The Jazz Showcase" and "Show Time." During the year KYTC worked to present more original programming and more listening hours.

Moving that one is impossible, you know.

College Eye

A rare experience for Larry Mikesell, the Eye's only photographer, is having his picture taken.

Every Friday morning the results of a hard week's work reach a climax as the College Eye is distributed. The newspaper contains news about current activities that are of interest to the students. Approximately thirty college students gather, write and publish the news of the campus. The editorial page is always kept lively by various views and controversies presented each week. The sports section is very complete and keeps the students who did not get to the games informed on their teams' progress. Advertisements from Cedar Falls and Waterloo business establishments help to pay for some of the costs of publishing the weekly newspaper. The Eye staff is quite proud of the fact that both semesters last year the College Eye earned a Class I rating from Associated Collegiate Press. Connie Stimpson was editor of the newspaper. All in all, the College Eye is a beneficial addition to the student body, the faculty and the entire college.

Maneuvering type for a long period of time as Roger and Connie have, teaches one to read rapidly upside down, at least.

The weekly theses of news editor Joy Drennen are popular reading with her reporters.

Old Gold Staff

It's excellent occupational therapy.

The approach of spring aroused varied emotions in SCI students: relief at the passing of winter, dread at impending final exams and joy at the arrival of the diary of their school year, the OLD GOLD.

This publication gives recognition to a number of worthy campus organizations and teams, but to one team in particular it represents not only a treasured album of achievements and fun, but an embodiment of hours of hard labor. Photographers with loaded cameras dashing to darkrooms from vital performances and games, copywriters collecting the facts and highlights to be molded into captions and headlines to submit to the editors for editing and layout—these are the roles and goals of editor IlaJean Hewicker and her team—the OLD GOLD staff.

Highlighting the OLD GOLD year, OLD GOLD Week found staff members waging a final sales campaign. The week culminated in the festivities of the OLD GOLD Popularity Contest and the OLD GOLD Beauty Pageant.

A Capella Choir

The Tree Lighting Ceremony December 5 was the first appearance of the A Cappella Choir this year on the SCI campus. They appeared previously at the MENC meeting in Des Moines at Thanksgiving. The choir also participated in the annual presentation of the "Messiah" in December. Another activity of this choral group was the annual tour to various Iowa towns in the latter part of February. On their return, they presented their yearly concert and appeared in the spring music festival.

The mixed choir is composed of approximately fifty to sixty members and is directed by Charles Matheson. The group is proud of its new appearance . . . new burnished gold robes for daytime use and formal evening dress of black floor length gowns and tuxedos.

Mixed Chorus

The members of the Mixed Chorus were busy all fall working diligently on the oratorios for the yearly presentation of the "Messiah" which they performed at Christmas time with other musical groups including Women's Chorus, A Cappella Choir and Symphony Orchestra. Following the December performance, the group met to practice on the music for their performance in the annual spring festival of the Music Department. During the year, Mixed Chorus met once a week to work on their music. The group is directed by John Mitchell of the Music Department. It is open especially to the members of the student body who enjoy singing in choruses, but who are not majoring in music.

Chapel Choir

Chapel Choir was organized to give pleasure and stimulation and to provide a challenge for the chapel congregation to become interested in beneficial music. The group sang weekly for the Chapel Service at the College Hill Interdenominational Church. Dr. David Bluhm officiated at this Sunday morning service. Another function of the choir was to provide music for the Baccalaureate service in the spring. Approximately fifteen to twenty students composed Chapel Choir this year. The group was under the supervision and direction of Miss Jane Mauck during the first semester. Mr. Philip Hahn directed the group second semester.

Performing at the annual "Messiah" along with A Cappella Choir, College Chorus and Symphony Orchestra was the first important activity of the Women's Chorus in the 1961-62 school year. They were seen by residents of this area when they appeared again this year on television with their special Christmas performance. A concert in the spring was another major activity of the year in which the members of Women's Chorus participated. The group met once a week during the year to work on varied pieces of music for their presentations. The group worked under the capable directorship of Miss Jane Mauck during the first semester. One credit hour a year is given to the women who participate in this group for the entire year.

Varsity Men's Glee Club

The newest singing organization on the SCI campus, Varsity Men's Glee Club, is in its second year. Among their performances were appearances in the Homecoming Varieties Show and the faculty dance in January. Varsity Men's Glee Club presents an opportunity for the men on campus who have an interest in music but who are not music majors, and can carry a tune, to have their own musical group. The group, organized and directed by Les Hale, has increased its membership and has acquired a new appearance this year by the purchase of blazers.

Marching Band

SCI spectators attending the Dad's Day home football game saw a smart Marching Band breeze onto the field at the half. The band tooted and blew its way through a series of sparkling half routines and then through a parade on Homecoming Day. On annual Band Day, the members of the Marching Band played hosts and guide to numerous high school marching bands from the area. Everybody loves a parade, but the Band Day's march was shortened due to rain. Later in the football season, the band made the mad migration to Des Moines for the Drake game. Our President Maucker honored the organization at the annual Band Dinner. Don Wendt directs this group of colorful brass players. High stepping it out in front are Jim Crowder as drum major and saucy Bonnie Dostal.

Concert Band

February snows forced the Concert Band to postpone its annual college concert in the absence of Mr. Karl Holvik, director, and Sigurd and Karin Rascher, guest soloists, who were snowed out of the Cedar Falls-Waterloo area.

The annual Iowa tour was not hampered by the snows and concerts were played at Belle Plaine, Fairfield, Marion, Millersburg, Monticello, Mt. Pleasant, Ottumwa, Tipton and Washington.

Other events the concert band participated in were the Tall Corn Music Conference and the spring music festival.

Symphony Orchestra

Dr. Myron E. Russell's hands raise, the audience hushes and the fifty musicians are poised as one. The conductor's hands drop slightly . . . and suddenly, out of the pulseless void, the SCI Symphony Orchestra and its leader create a lush, vibrant, melodious concinnity. The SCI Symphony is composed of both students and faculty members and has as its basic aim to perform the best in music literature. This year's agenda included a fall concert and participation in the sumptuous "Messiah." The winter season passed with more music . . . another concert and two operas. Spring climaxed the year for the SCI Symphony Orchestra when, in a final performance, student soloists made their bow to the art world.

BRENDA JEAN GEIGER
Vinton, Iowa

"Bunny, you will wear a crown that represents one of the most friendly student bodies I have met and because of this, wear your crown with the highest honor, the deepest pride and the biggest smile because you are their queen!" These were the parting words of 1961 OLD GOLD Beauty Queen Miss Dee Azeltine as she relinquished her reign to Miss Brenda Jean Geiger, 1962 Beauty Queen. Bunny and fifty-seven other girls competed for this title in two beauty pageants where beauty and poise were of chief importance to a panel of distinguished judges. On announcement of the winner, tearful Bunny was accompanied down the ramp by the applause of the crowd.

Panthers Share Football Title

SCI's Panthers finished the 1961 football season sharing the North Central Conference title. The Panthers led the league up to the last game when South Dakota came from nowhere to grab a share of the crown by beating SCI 36-12. The only other loss SCI had was 21-6 by rival Drake University. This defeat snapped the Panthers' regular season winning streak at 13 games, five more games than the longest previous string by the 1927 SCI team. The Panthers outscored all other opponents, 218-61, shutting out Mankato State and North Dakota State and holding three other teams to one touchdown each. 6,500 fans saw SCI beat Augustana to highlight homecoming activities, and a Dad's Day crowd of 6,000 turned out for the evening game with North Dakota. The major migration of the season was to the Drake game, and many fans followed the Panthers to South Dakota State as spectator interest remained high. Graduating seniors on the football squad were Wendell Williams, Al Sonnenberg, John Raffensperger, Howard Becker, Gary Wilcox, Hurley Hanley, Carl Bowman, Bob Crane, Gene Doyle, Bob Andrews, and Ken Kroemer.

Coach Stan Sheriff advises quarterback Dave Cox on the finer points of the game.

Boals, Cox Set Records

Dan Boals led the rushing department and Dave Cox took charge of passing as the Panthers set and tied many records this season. Boals charged 1003 yards to set a new SCI record in rushing yardage. His 738 yards in league play set a North Central Conference record, but he fell five points short of the scoring record. Dan's place-kicking in the Morningside game let him tie the school record of five conversions in one game. The team record for rushing yardage set in 1946 also fell this season when the Panthers' offense totaled 2276 yards. Cox tossed four touchdown passes in the opening game against Bradley to tie Ralph Capitani's individual and team record. Dave toppled another Capitani mark by passing for 14 touchdowns during the season. Fifteen touchdown passes this season were good for a new team record in this department.

A wary Augustana back prepares for a jolt from John Raffensperger and Al Sonnenberg.

The Panther attack!

Peppy the Panther and the cheerleaders fire up the crowd as they dance to a tune by the band.

Howie Becker wonders what that guy said.

Williams Named All-America

SCI's Wendell Williams and Dan Boals earned national recognition by the Associated Press for the 1961 season. Williams was named first team guard on the Little All-America team, and Boals was given honorable mention.

Williams called defensive signals for the Panthers in his third season as a starter. He and Boals were two of SCI's co-captains for 1961. Williams was a first team selection on the All-North Central Conference team both in 1960 and 1961.

Boals, a junior, also was named first team all-NCC in 1961. He completed the season ranked second in rushing on the NCAA small-college standings and first in the conference.

SCI Ties Augie In Basketball Race

The North Central Conference championship and a bid to the NCAA regional basketball tournament completed coach Norm Stewart's first year as SCI head basketball coach. After winning the first four games and the Tall Corn Tournament, the Panthers dropped their three opening conference games. Not until SCI met Augustana nine games later did the Panthers lose again. SCI finished the rest of the conference schedule without a defeat to finish in a tie for first place with Augustana. In the playoff game to decide the conference representative to the NCAA regional tournament, SCI beat Augustana, 81-78. The Panthers won their first game in the regional, but their busy schedule told on them as they dropped the final round game to Nebraska Wesleyan by one point. The season's record, 19 wins and 5 losses, held the most victories ever scored by a Panther basketball team in one season.

Jerry Holbrook and Pete Spoden earned honorable mention on the Associated Press All-America team. Both were named to the All-Tall Corn tournament team along with Bob McCool, and Spoden was named the tournament's most valuable player. Holbrook and Spoden also placed on the All-NCAA regional tournament team, with Spoden again winning the most valuable player award. Spoden, Holbrook and Bob Waller were selected for the All-NCC team.

Spoden grabbed 178 rebounds in NCC play for first place, while Holbrook's .828 captured the free throw shooting crown. Spoden's 486 points and 189 field goals won him SCI records. In his three-year career, Holbrook scored 1,045 points for another SCI record. Holbrook, Spoden, and Bob Waller became the first three players on an SCI team to score over 300 points each in one season.

Iowa Junior College champ, Creston, won two games from the Junior Panthers; Waterloo's Titus Airfoils, runnerup in the State AAU Tourney, took one and the freshmen from Drake of the Missouri Valley Conference, won another. SCI freshmen split a pair of tight games with the Wartburg freshmen, neither one winning at home.

Top scorer for SCI freshmen this year was Herb Justmann with 182 points. Dick Lowe was second with 172, and Ron Jessen scored 165 points for third high. Dennis Przychodzin and Dave Rowray rounded out the top five after Dick Savage and Larry Dusanek became eligible for varsity competition.

Wrestlers Battle Tough Schedule

The Panthers managed only five wins against nine losses in what Coach Bill Koll termed "the toughest schedule in the nation." But SCI was impressive in the quadrangular meet at the University of Minnesota as Frank Freeman, Dave Jensen and Bob Stevens won titles in competition with Iowa State, South Dakota State and Minnesota. Jim Sanford and Bill Dotson followed the pattern by taking individual championships on the home mat in the SCI invitational tournament.

Injuries became fatal to the Panthers early in dual competition when Freeman and Stevens were sidelined with injuries after winning in the first meets. Coach Koll juggled the lineups, trying to find winning combinations among the reserves, but the Panthers lost to two Big Ten schools and dropped meets to three more schools on a rugged road trip West.

Jensen and Don Wilson were instrumental in securing the victory by beating tough opponents of Mankato State. Freeman rejoined the team for the Iowa State meet and scored a decision as did Dotson when he wrestled twenty pounds overweight at 167. Jensen drew 5-5 in his match, but no other Panthers could put together points in front of the sizable number of fans from both Iowa schools. The top effort of the year came when the Panthers met the Cowpokes of Oklahoma State before an enthu-

SCI Finishes Strong

The tough competition SCI faced in the regular season paid off in the NCAA tournament as the Panthers ranked fifth, their best showing since 1953. Frank Freeman took second at 123 pounds, Bill Dotson was runner-up at 137 and Dave Jensen picked up fourth place among 130 pounders. Freeman lost, 7-4, to Oklahoma State's Masaaki Hatta, who had beaten Freeman in a dual meet this season. Dotson lost to his opponent, Bill Carter of Oklahoma, 6-4, in the final minute. After wrestling to a 4-4 tie in regulation time, Jensen bowed out in a 3-0 overtime.

SCI maintained its domination of North Central Conference wrestling by winning six titles and placing second in two more divisions. Jensen, Freeman, Dotson, Jim Sanford, Don Wilson and Bob Stevens won their final round matches, while Wayne Cormaney and Wendell Williams got second place honors. Jensen was named outstanding wrestler of the tournament.

Panther Nine Rules League

Panther Larry Kehoe flies past a cautious infielder bound for the canvas sack which will not hold them both.

The ISTC baseball team captured their second North Central Conference baseball championship in four seasons in 1961. The 1961 Panthers were 7-0 in conference play as they swept North Dakota University in the play-offs for the crown. TC's offense totalled 59 runs against 10 runs gained by conference opponents. The Cedar Falls nine led the league in hitting with a .333 average and in fielding with a .969 average.

Pitcher Ed Watt, First Baseman Larry Kehoe, shortstop Ed Ware, and outfielders Jim Steiert and Lyle Thomson all were named to the All-North Central Conference baseball team. Norm Blake, Dave Ray, Darrell Bunge and Jack Heaton gained honorable mention. Kehoe led the league in batting with a .588 conference play average, led in RBI's with eight and tied for first in home runs with teammates Watt, Ware and Steiert, each slamming two. Panther pitchers Watt and Ray each had 2-0 records for a second place tie in the league, followed by Bunge in fourth place with one victory. Both Watt and Bunge had 0.00 earned run averages in league play.

L. W. (Mon) Whitford, in his 35th year at ISTC, produced a Panther baseball team with an impressive record of 11 wins and four defeats. The 4-4 non-conference record included two defeats at the hands of Oklahoma State in the NCAA District Five play-offs. ISTC was an at-large representative in the best-of-three series against the Big Eight school. The winner gained a berth in the College World Series.

This season Panthers slugged out a .291 batting average and defensively they produced a .950 fielding average. Lyle Thomson led the team in hitting with .421, followed by Larry Kehoe at .415. Darrell Bunge led the pitchers with a 3-0 record, but Ed Watt with a 5-1 record posted a 1.98 ERA to top the Panthers in that department. Dave Ray pitched the Panthers to three victories and two defeats.

Trackmen Undeclared In Dual Meets

Coach Art Dickinson's trackmen won all four of their dual meets and all three of their triangulars in the 1961 track season. The Panthers finished first in the Iowa College Indoor Relays and showed well in the Cornell, TC, and Drake Relays. In the Southhalf North Central Conference meet, TC won with 77 points, its nearest contender being South Dakota University at 35½ points. In the North Central Conference meet TC placed second to SDU by the narrow margin of 69 to 66. South Dakota State presented the only other serious competition with 58 points.

In the Southhalf Conference meet Max Huffman set a new meet record of 22'-1½" in the broad jump, and a team of Dennis Weyrauch, Larry Markley, John Raffensperger, and Hal Byram sped to a record 3:20.4 in the 8-lap relay. Raffensperger's :06.6 tied the Iowa College Indoor Relays 50-yard low hurdle time. In the Drake Relays, Markley, Weyrauch, Byram and Raffensperger teamed again to establish a new mark of 3:21.9 in the Iowa College Mile Relay. Bob Crane joined Markley, Weyrauch, and Raffensperger for the 880-yard relay team to top the Iowa Colleges in that event.

Two School Records Fall In 1961

Dick Dotson appears to be clearing the light pole in the typical form that brought him the school pole vault record of 13'-4 $\frac{5}{8}$ ".

Two ISTC indoor track records fell in 1961. In a dual meet with Cornell, Max Huffman topped the 1950 school record of 22'-4" in the broad jump by leaping 22'-9". Dick Dotson rewrote both the school and the Iowa College Indoor Relays pole vault records by vaulting 13'-4 $\frac{5}{8}$ " to better the 13'-2" mark set only last year by Jim Duea.

The Panthers captured their share of events in the TC Relays by winning the college division 440- and 880-yard relays. Max Huffman, Bob Crane, John Raffensperger and Hal Byram fought off a strong Northeast Missouri bid for a repeat victory in the 440-yard relay. The Panthers won by a mere tenth of a second to tie Northeast Missouri's 1960 record of :43.1. The freshman 880-yard relay team of Mike Long, Bob Theisen, Bob Glasener, and Dave Suntken wrote a record of 1:31.0 in the books.

Netmen Take North Central Title

The Iowa State Teachers College tennis team won their third North Central Conference tennis championship in the last four tournaments. Jim Baker and Roger Ditzenberger teamed for the conference doubles title without dropping a set. Mike Schaumberg gained the final round of the individual matches and won second place. Doug Foley reached the semi-final round, but lost to the champion also. ISTC totalled 10 points in the tournament to give them a three-point margin over North Dakota State. The Panthers tallied 5 wins against 3 losses in the 1961 season. The Baker-

Ditzenberger combination led in doubles for the season with a 5-2 record, and the Foley-Schaumberg team posted a 4-3 season record.

Intramural Races Are Close

Competition in men's intramurals was keen with a new point system and more participation. Men's dormitory house teams competed in their own league this year and they met off-campus and fraternity teams only at the end of the playing season for each sport to decide all-campus championships.

Stone House and Lowe House took the two house league football championships and in the playoff Lowe House won. Tau Kappa Epsilon, fraternity off-campus league champ, beat the men from Lowe in a rugged game, 16-14.

The Stone House swimmers and the TKE swimmers finished strong again in the swimming tournament. Each finished high in its league, winning five of eight contests, but no all-campus scores were kept.

Phi Sigma Epsilon took on Hemstead House in the championship game for basketball. The Phi Sigs won handily, 55-38.

Interest was high as several former high school stars met in the wrestling tournament. Sherman House took first place over all with 24 points. Boies House was second at 21, and the Phi Sigs had 20 for third place.

The aim of the Lutheran Student Association is to provide an opportunity for its members to grow spiritually, intellectually and socially. LSA proposes to be a Christian example to the entire academic community. To fulfill this purpose, a varied program was offered: weekly vespers, study groups, contact committees, Sunday night suppers and programs. LSA sponsored other activities during the year such as coffee hours, parties, a local retreat and an annual fall banquet.

Kappa Phi Club

Kappa Phi is the Methodist women's service group at SCI. Striving to attain their aim, "Every Methodist woman in the University today is a leader in the church tomorrow," the group chose to help the Waterloo chapter of Multiple Sclerosis as their year's project. Kappa Phi also donated to the national chapter to help with the work of the national organization.

Phi Chi Delta

Phi Chi Delta, the Presbyterian women's service sorority, is a study and service organization that attempted to provide its members with opportunities to gain leadership and to share in fun and fellowship with other young women. Meeting in conjunction with the Presbyterian Student Center, their service projects included Christmas chocolate hours, redecoration projects at the center and ushering at the Interdenominational Chapel. Guided by Mrs. Dick Nelson the students worked together, studied together and enjoyed the benefits of their Christian life together.

Intersorority Council consists of elected representatives from each of the sororities on campus, plus three executive officers and the editor and assistant editor of Who's Who, a booklet published in the spring to acquaint women students with sororities. The council's function is to join together all sororities on campus and to encourage high sorority standards and increased cooperation among the groups. A few of the new "standards" this year are the sorority counselor project, boycott of Bartlett during rush fall activation, the raising of grade point to 2.2 for girls to join.

In addition to working with campus organizations, the council also sponsors many activities for its members such as coke-dates, teas and social service projects. This year Intersorority and Interfraternity Councils adopted an orphan for one year through the Foster Parents Plan. These two organizations also co-sponsor Greek Week. Intersorority advisers are Dean Mavis Holmes and Miss Barbara Elsbury.

Interfraternity Council, consisting of three elected representatives from each fraternity, governs matters affecting the fraternity system of SCI and studies the various campus fraternity problems, working for the best development of the Greek system. This year IFC and ISC sponsored a child through the Foster Parents Adoption Plan and participated in Thanksgiving and Christmas projects and in Greek Week. Faculty Advisors are Dean Bender and Mr. Sandy MacLean.

Delta Delta Phi

Potato chips and dip, hair curlers and other numerous articles can be found in the Lawther Loft at the Delta Delta Phi sorority slumber parties. Homecoming also found the Delts active as they worked on their float with their brothers of Alpha Chi Epsilon. Their tea was held at the home of Mrs. Nordly. With fall over, the Delts engaged in a Snowball Party. Other winter activities included Christmas caroling and a December Dinner. Rush season found the Delts busily planning and presenting their parties for prospective rushees. After all this was achieved, enjoyable work awaited them as their pledges began an orientation period.

The Deltones enhanced the Greek Week Varieties.

"Panthers, It's Time to Strike," was the theme of the Kappa Theta Psi Sorority Homecoming float. They combined their talents with Nu Sigma Phi Sorority to capture third place. Also on Homecoming Day the Kappas held a tea for their alumnae. Another weekend found the Kappas honoring their dads with a Dad's Day Dinner. Parties and picnics with the fraternities on campus are further accentuated by special events such as the Spring Dinner-Dance. In the spring the Kappas enthusiastically worked on their social service projects. An unusual activity held at Christmas time is Secret Sister Week. At this time the girls draw names and secretly give each other inexpensive gifts. The climax of this event occurs by the Christmas tree where these humorous items are substituted with real gifts.

Nu Sigma Phi

Nu Sigma Phi devoted most of its time during the past year to the reorganization of the group. In February of 1961, twenty-three girls were activated en masse and began work with former members to create a completely new organization with the aid of Dean Mavis Holmes and Miss Barbara Elsbury. New officers were elected, the constitution revised, goals formulated and work began. Some of the year's activities included Secret Sister Week and a Mother's Day luncheon. Informal rush in the fall featured Nu Sig Deb Days, a replacement for Hell Week. Nu Sigma Phi also received the scholarship award for the spring 1961 semester. The sponsors were Miss Mary Mortell, Dr. and Mrs. Manford Sonstegard and Mrs. Howard Jones.

"We build for character and not for fame." This is the goal of Phi Sigma Phi sorority. Individuals in the group were honored for holding high this sorority goal at the Phi Sigma Phi Dinner-Dance in the spring. The Phi Sigs do many things with their brothers, Phi Sigma Epsilon. To start the year they had a date party at the Waterloo Boat Club. At Christmas time they again got together at a party where they sponsored a "Mitten Tree" for needy children. The fathers of members were honored at the Dad's Day Banquet. Dr. Basil Re-pass, Miss Margaret Sjolander, Dr. and Mrs. Caryl Middleton and Dr. and Mrs. George Ball were sponsors.

Pi Tau Phi

Early this year Pi Tau Phi Social Sorority celebrated its thirty-fifth anniversary as an organization on the SCI campus. Many alumnae returned for this special dinner. The Pi Taus started early this year—before school started, in fact, when they had a weekend party at Clear Lake. The PiTaus have a unique service project in which they eagerly and actively participate. This is their work with the handicapped children at the Cedar Falls Recreation Center. Socially, the girls have many parties throughout the year with the fraternities on campus and also with other sororities. Seniors in the sorority are honored at the Grad's Dinner held annually in the spring. This and their dinner-dance end the social season for the Pi Taus. Sponsors for the group are Miss Mary Eakin, Mrs. Perry Grier, Mrs. Glen Heckroth and Mrs. Zatha Weems.

At Homecoming, activities included a float and the traditional Homecoming Sip. The Pi Thet's, along with other Greeks, helped with the adoption project, a worthwhile endeavor for needy children. Some of the special events planned were Secret Sister Week, Mother's Day Brunch and the publishing of the Alumnae Newsletter. In the spring the annual dinner-dance and the Graduates Dinner were held. The sponsors are Dr. and Mrs. Richard Crumley, Dr. and Mrs. Merritt Melberg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goss and Miss Jo Yeager.

Building the Homecoming Float with their brother fraternity, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and giving a Homecoming tea for the alumnae were superb ways of getting the year off to an active start for Tau Sigma Delta. The Dad's Day Coffee Hour honoring members' fathers, coke dates, exchanges with other fraternities and a Christmas party were enjoyable events of the fall semester. The Mother's Day Luncheon and the "Moonlight Mist" dinner-dance were the main highlights of the spring. A Graduation Dinner was held in honor of the graduating seniors and a tea was given for the sponsors. The Tau Sigs won the Scholarship Plaque for fall, 1961, and spent long hours preparing their spring alumnae newsletter.

The Theta Gams also participated in Secret Sister Week and at Christmas time enjoyed a party with their sponsors. The Yuletide festive spirit was there as they worked during the holidays in the children's ward at Sartori Hospital. The Mother's Day Weekend was a significant event because the mothers were not only honored but the Outstanding Theta Gamma Nu and the winner of the annual scholarship traveling pin were recognized. # Alpha Chi Epsilon

"You're the sweetheart of Alpha Chi!" was heard many times this year as the girls of many Chi's were honored. The traditional pinning ceremony is a highlight for the Chi's and is held at the Campanile or the girl's dorm. Alpha Chi Epsilon boasts other traditions, the most recent being Pledge Pebble. This is a huge rock out in the country with the fraternity crest painted on it, courtesy of the fall 1960 pledge class. Pledge Pebble is a sequel to the old monument, Chi Rock, founded by Chi alums back in 1920. Chi Rock is in the heart of the new housing district off College Street and has so far successfully avoided the cities' aim of removing it. A girl can become a Chi coed at either rock. Perhaps a bit more humorous tradition is the Bumblebee Bomb which can be heard driving around campus during fall and spring. It is not easy to finance such an oddity as the license plate alone costs two dollars. Sponsors are Dr. Howard Jones, Dr. Edward Thorne, Dr. Emmiett Cable, and Mr. Milo Lawton. Their sisters are Delta Delta Phi Sorority.

A yearbook is a vast beehive; staff members, instructors, professionals and students hurry along like bees, each on his own separate mission in the creation of the final product.

A publication staff member is a special type of person, endowed with a strong concern for campus affairs, interest in the people around them, and an extraordinary amount of reserve energy, enthusiasm and vitality that survives even deadlines, finals and illness and thrives on success.

There is no better way to meet SCI than through its communications—the OLD GOLD, the College Eye and KYTC. A person is not educated if he has pursued only paper and ink during his college term. Much of education is experience, and this comes only in exploration.

An editor is not editor for prestige or glory, but because he has a viewpoint, a philosophy or an interpretation to present. This staff has attempted to present SCI as a growing institution, transitional in purpose, ideals and appearance.

To all of you who have helped with the 1962 OLD GOLD, I would like to express my personal appreciation and gratitude. You have done a task that no staff after you can claim. You have created the first yearbook of the State College of Iowa.

ILAJEAN HEWICKER
Editor, 1962 OLD GOLD
